The Majority Disapproves Wisnumatan's Government

Purikali - Opinion polls done in the beginning of November indicate that the disapproval for the government of PM Sindi Wisnumatan surpassed the approval. 63% are not satisfied with the government during the coronavirus crisis and only 34% are satisfied. It is the highest rejection rate since the prime minister took office in 2014. Despite polls indicating that the government did well in terms of health, major dissatisfaction (59%) is with the economic performance of the country. The unemployment of almost 12% - the highest rate since 2012 - is the major cause for this dissatisfaction.

This situation opened a crisis in the government that can lead Wisnumatan to resign. There is a lot of pressure from many sectors for more economic aid.

The economy was strongly affected by the countermeasures to contain Covid-19. The dramatic reduction of foreign tourists impacted directly and indirectly the economic activity. The expected number of 3.5 million tourists this year was reduced to 640 thousand, a drop of more than 80%.

The service sector was the most affected. Also, the oil production had a significant drop due to the oil price in the global market.

GDP is expected to be reduced in 5%, closing the year with 186 billion huwas. Exports and imports also had a similar reduction.

Companies such as airlines, hotels, restaurants and services in general claim a government aid to avoid bankruptcy.
